

March 10-11, 2025

North Carolina Biotechnology Center, RTP

Rigor and Reproducibility in Animal Studies is a two-day conference to promote the important concepts of translational value, rigor and reproducibility in animal research. This conference is intended for anyone involved in research with animal models, including:

- Graduate Students
- Scientists
- Research and Technical Staff who Conduct Animal-Based Research

Rigor and Reproducibility in Animal Studies will review investigator and institutional responsibilities in animal research and the issues that impact the public as a stakeholder. NIH responsibilities and expectations, and the following will be reviewed:

- The challenges of animal models to provide translationally meaningful data; and
- Factors that impact the reproducibility of animal study data, including concepts of study bias and techniques for how to minimize that bias.

Attendees will be introduced to best practices for the publication of animal study data as well as best practices for planning and conducting high quality animal studies.

Registration rates (includes both days):

- Early Bird (through January 3, 2025): $225 for NCABR Member Employees; $325 for All Others
- Regular Rate (January 4 - March 3, 2025): $275 for NCABR Member Employees, $375 for All Others

PRESENTING SPONSOR: $10,000 (1 available)

- 4 non-student and 12 student complimentary registrations
- Introduction for opening session on day #1
- Logo placed on opening screen, conference website, all promotional emails, and conference booklet

PLATINUM SPONSOR: $7,000 (1 available)

- 3 non-student and 11 student complimentary registrations
- Logo placed on opening screen, conference website, all promotional emails, and conference booklet

GOLD SPONSOR: $5,000 (4 available)

- 2 non-student and 10 student complimentary registrations
- Logo placed on opening screen, conference website, all promotional emails, and conference booklet

STUDENT SPONSOR: $4,500 (4 available)

- 10 student complimentary registrations
- Logo placed on opening screen, conference website, all promotional emails, and conference booklet

LUNCH SPONSOR: $3,000 (2 available)

- 2 complimentary registrations
- Logo placed on opening screen, conference website, all promotional emails, and conference booklet

SILVER SPONSOR: $2,000 (unlimited)

- 1 complimentary registration
- Logo placed on opening screen, conference website, all promotional emails, and conference booklet

BRONZE SPONSOR: $1,000 (unlimited)

- Logo placed on opening screen, conference website, all promotional emails, and conference booklet

NCABR welcomes your partnership for this important program. For additional information, please contact NCABR President Suzanne Wilkison at 919.785.1304 or swilkison@ncabr.org.