Presentation Title: The Science House Presents - Powered By Wonder: Turning Standards into Student Driven Learning

Teachers don't need more strategies. They need a shift in structure. This session models how to move from teacher-directed instruction to student-driven learning through phenomena, engineering practices and a strategic use of AI while still honoring standards and accountability. This session will give attendees tools to shift from compliance-laden classrooms to limitless learning environments.

Presentation Target:

Elementary & Middle School
